27 - 28 November 2013 COST Action events
 Hotel Diplomat, Prague (CZ) ▶ 1st BacFoodNet Conference - A European Network for Mitigating Bacterial Colonisation and Persistence on Foods and Food Processing Environments

25 - 27 November 2013 Transdisciplinary strategic event
 Zagreb, Croatia ▶ COST Arts & Technologies \(CAT\)
 The rationale behind the COST Arts & Technologies (CAT) workshop is that there are large potential gains in integrating arts on the one hand with technologies on the other, to a larger extent than what has been done so far. Combining artistic creativity with technological expertise should in itself have a great potential to lead to new products, services and social innovations.

18 - 20 November 2013 Transdisciplinary strategic event
 Delft University of Technology ▶ Materials in a resource-constrained world
 Modern society is totally dependent upon the affordable access to raw materials from which high-tech materials are produced for the automotive, aviation, electronics, power generation, medical, construction and other industries. We live in a materialized world. However, the triptych of decreasing finite natural resources, an ever increasing human population, and rapidly increasing levels of consumption in the developing world are putting increasing demands on the planets' raw materials and natural resources.

06 - 08 November 2013 External events
 LITEXPO, Vilnius, Lithuania ▶ ICT 2013 - Create, Connect, Grow

15 October 2013 High-level policy event
 Brussels, Belgium ▶ COST Science Night
 COST Science Night 2013 provided European policymakers and representatives of the EU institutions, the scientific community and the press the opportunity to meet researchers leading selected COST Actions, who showcased their cutting-edge work in a number of scientific fields and explained how the pan-European science and technology networks supported by COST contribute to addressing key global scientific and societal challenges.

15 October 2013 Transdisciplinary strategic event
 COST Office ▶ Open Access: Practices, Opportunities and Challenges Breakfast Workshop
 A high profile event designed to present and discuss outcomes from a COST Symposium on Open Access held in May 2013, with a select group of policymakers and expert practitioners involved in setting open access policy and implementing it in practice.
